

ARREST REVEALS HIS WEDDING.

Crysler Accused of Theft Soon After His Secret Marriage to Sadie Dool.

YOUNG BRIDE IN TEARS.

Youthful Husband Charged with Stealing Money in a Department Store—Surprise for Parents.

The arraignment of George E. Crysler, a salesman of twenty-two, in the Jefferson Market Court today on a charge of stealing $5.13 in a Sixth avenue department store deprived his weeping bride of her honeymoon in the first twenty-four hours of their honeymoon and gave his parents their first intimation of his marriage.

Crysler and Sadie Dool, of No. 422 West Thirty-fifth street, were married at Christ Church, Wednesday, but instead of a honeymoon trip he returned to his work as usual and she to her mother's home. George Bernard, a detective in a department store, charged in the police court that Crysler made a cash check for only 76 cents, filled in the full amount in the duplicate, handed it to the customer and kept the difference, $5.13.

When Mrs. Sadie Crysler was informed of her husband's escape, she burst into a flood of tears and would not be comforted, and when word was taken to Crysler's father, who lives at No. 125 Crysler street, Brooklyn, he was overcome. He said he had not been told of his son's marriage; that he had heard him speak of "Sadie" somebody, but couldn't recall her last name, and had looked upon it as a child's affair, as his son was not able to earn enough to support himself.

It is said by the store detective that the young bride's sole role to raise money to furnish a flat.

ORIGINAL TOMBS ANGEL IS DEAD.

Mrs. Ernestine Schaffner, Who Devoted Many Years of Her Life to Prisoners, Passes Away at Home.

Mrs. Ernestine Schaffner, the original "Tombs Angel," is dead at her home, No. 70 West Fifth street. She was seventy years of age. Twenty-five years ago Mrs. Schaffner began to do charitable and religious work among the Tombs prisoners. She was attracted to the work by the case of a young man who snatched a woman's purse because those dependent on him were starving. Mrs. Schaffner visited him, investigated his case, found he had told the truth and after inducing the Judge to suspend sentence she obtained him employment. The young man visited her yearly thereafter to prove that her efforts were not wasted.

Mrs. Schaffner helped men as well as women prisoners, gave clothing to the needy and furnished legal help to those whom she thought innocent, and often secured bail for prisoners. At one time she had a bureau for former prisoners through which she secured them employment. Mrs. Schaffner gave up her work at the persuasion of her children after she had passed her sixtieth year. She was not connected with any church.

HUMAN PENDULUM SAVES MAN FROM DEATH AT FIRE.

Two Firemen Daringly Rescue a Cuban from Window When Blaze Imperils Him.

"The human pendulum" saved a life at a fire in the boarding-house No. 223 West Fourteenth street early today. Fireman William Kelly, of Hook and Ladder Company No. 12, and Washington Slaton, of Engine Company No. 8, were the principals in the dramatic rescue.

The boarding-house is run by Mrs. Mary Finn, and besides her daughters, Lillian and May, there were eighteen boarders asleep when the fire started at 8 o'clock. Most of the boarders are Cuban men on a visit to this city. Mrs. Whiting was the only other woman in the house, which is four stories high, of brick with brownstone facings.

Starts in Wardrobe.

The blaze started as nearly as can be told by the firemen in a room on the third floor rear, occupied by Dr. John Lee, who is connected with the Post-Graduate Hospital. It started in a wardrobe, and had evidently been smoldering for some time before the flames broke through. Dr. Lee was not home at the time.

A. C. Broderick, who occupies an adjoining room, and William O'Connor, who roomed directly overhead, discovered the fire at about the same time. The former opened the door to ascertain the cause of the intense heat, and for a few moments was driven back by the dense volume of smoke that poured in from the hallway. O'Connor on opening his door was met by flames that leaped toward him, and he fled to the fire-escape. As he ran down the ladder he smashed the glass in each window and alarmed the sleepers on the various floors.

One of the first to be awakened in that manner was Sig. Raymon, who hastily donned some garments and hurried out to give the alarm. The firemen promptly responded.

By the time they arrived, however, the rear of the third floor had been gutted. It was thought that all had got away in safety, until it was discovered that George Harrison, an old man and heavy sleeper, had not been accounted for. He occupied a room on the third floor front and escape by way of the hall or stairs had by that time been cut off.

Firemen Above Him.

Firemen Kelly and Slaton were on the fourth floor when they heard of Harrison's danger. It was decided that Kelly should lower himself from the fourth to the third floor window of the old man's room, and that Slaton was to hold him up.

Kelly's first act was to step on the brownstone coping, which projects a way beneath him, and he would have fallen to the sidewalk but for Slaton, who had been lower himself from the window below in pajamas. Kelly was lowered in the manner described and Slaton, who is powerfully built, swung him pendulum-like from side to side in that manner he seized Harrison and swung him to the window on the same floor of the adjoining building.

ing. Then Slaton, with the same length before manifested, raised Kelly back to his former position. When Mrs. Finn's daughters were out in safety both remembered that two pet dogs had been left behind. May had a white bulldog on the second floor, while Lillian kept a poodle in the rear. They dared flame and smoke and saved the animals. The damage caused by the fire is estimated at $2,000.

During the blaze the Cubans did not show the least excitement, nor was there any particular excitement in the adjoining boarding-houses, in which other Cubans are stopping.

$225,000 FIRE IN ORANGE FACTORY.

Seven Hundred Employees Thrown Out of Work by a Blaze That Started in Berg's Hat-Making Place.

Fire late last night destroyed Berg's hat factory at Orange, N. J. The loss is estimated at $225,000. Employees to the number of 700 will be thrown out of work.

The factory, which stood at South Jefferson and Forest streets, in the Valley District, was one of the largest plants of the kind in the United States. The fire started in the drying-room, it is supposed, and spread rapidly. Assistance came from the Fire Department of West and South Orange, and the flames were confined to the building where they started.

YOUNG GIRL FOUND ASLEEP IN PARK.

Pretty Little Foreigner Was Unable to Tell Police What Her Address Was—Held for Friends.

Asleep on a bench in Hamilton Park, Jersey City, Policeman Donohue found a pretty Polish girl at daybreak. She appeared to be about sixteen years old. Her attire was neat and her manner was hardly that of a girl used to sleeping wherever she could find a place to lay her head.

The girl was entirely ignorant of the English language and an interpreter had to be obtained to question her.

At the Seventh street station-house she gave her name to the interpreter as Francisca Duerlaus, but that was as far as she could get in explaining her identity. Questioned about her home, she gave answers at random. At none of the places she mentioned was she known. The girl appeared rational on every other subject but her identity, but she could give no explanation of how she came to be in the park or where she came from. The interpreter said she was not shamming. She was sent to the women's prison to await inquiries from her friends.

Prospectus to Wise Men Concerning a Great Company of LEATHER and SHOES
AN EXTRAORDINARY COMMUNITY of interest exists between men who wear shoes and Wanamaker's. It may be enjoyed to-day by twenty-five thousand men if only the right sizes of feet be promptly presented to the proper shoes.
You will find strong statements in the following, but all profoundly serious. You may accept each of them at par and a premium. But it must be understood that in these remarkable offerings of Shoes we are only presenting the results of regular trading. It is no discredit that our claim to absolute exclusiveness in the cheapness and largeness of the offering can be positively asserted and sustained against all comers. The facts as given here may easily be verified by any intelligent man.
It should be recalled that in leather-tanning and shoe-making America is easily leading all the world. In some European cities the invasion of American shoes has created almost riotous opposition. In other places the business goes on apace. Everybody knows how much suffering Europe needs American shoes.
Your question is: "How shall Americans get the best shoes cheapest?" Our answer is: "Through the Wanamaker methods." The results of these methods differ. This is an extraordinary time. We have found the psychological moment for good bargaining and have seized it for our public—for you. Now to the facts:
